

What is Geography in KS1 ?

Geography is a subject that can be split into 2 parts: physical and human. Physical geography is the study of the surface of the Earth and includes the study of mountains, deserts, rivers and oceans. Human geography is studying where people live, what they do and how they use the land.

Someone who studies Geography is called a Geographer.

We will be learning about Rachel Carson, Mary Anning and Yi-Fu Tuan.

I will be learning these skills in Geography:

- Use compass directions (North, South, East and West)
- Use maps to identify the United Kingdom and its countries.
- Create a map of my local area and plan a route.
- Describe a location using the human and physical features.
